Description

An antique sectional bookcase in golden oak by Lebus, British c.1910. This three-tier barrister-style bookcase features glazed up-and-over doors with small brass handles. The shaped gallery top and dentil moulding detail lend it a refined architectural presence, while the sectional design allows for easy disassembly. The warm oak grain and solid construction reflect the quality associated with Lebus furniture during the Edwardian period. Suitable for books, objects or display.
