Description

A rare and elegant Victorian mahogany two-drawer side table, stamped "HEAL & SON" with the Royal Crown mark to the reverse—indicating prestigious provenance from Osborne House, Queen Victoria's Isle of Wight residence. Crafted in the mid-19th century, this refined antique table features two drawers with original turned wooden knobs, hand-cut dovetail joints, and fine turned legs terminating in brass castors. The warm, rich patina of the mahogany highlights the superior craftsmanship for which Heal & Son was renowned. As suppliers to the Royal Household, Heal & Son's furniture is highly sought after by collectors and designers alike. This piece offers both historic significance and timeless functionality—perfect as a writing table, hallway piece, or decorative accent. circa 1860
