Date of manufacture: Regency

Description

A delightful mahogany writing desk of small proportions raised on beautifully turned legs with carved capitals. The leather top lifts to reveal an open interior storage compartment and is gracefully finished with a brass balustrade design gallery. To the right a slim drawer for ink, pens and pencils. As can be seen from the images, the top can also rest flat thanks to a clever small wooden support so that it can also serve as an occasional table or lamp stand. This is an exquisite piece of furniture able to enhance a corner of a room or even a larger space. Circa 1820
Dimensions: 42cm w x 46.5cm d x 82cm (max h, including gallery) / 75cm (h to the front)
