Description

Large C19th French campana-shaped cast bronze vase or wine-cooler in the neo-classical style after Clodion. The tapering body cast with a bacchanalian scene of cavorting cherubs or amorini harvesting grapes for wine-making. The sides with boldly cast horned ram's-head handles. The rim of the vase with ovolo or 'egg-and-dart' detail and having a band of grape-vines beneath. The vase body supported on a turned and fluted spreading socle, with a further vine-cast ring onto a square plinth base with re-entrant corners. Of impressive scale and proportions, in excellent original condition with a rich consistent colour, patina and surface to the bronze. The design after the celebrated French sculptor Claude Michel, known as Clodion (1738-1814). H 12" W 12" D 9" D (interior of body) 5.5" France c.1860
