Description

Each with turned beech ebonised frames. The first chairs of this type were made in around 1870 and had near-round seats and steam bent stretchers. These examples are likely to have been made later in century. One chair in very good condition. The second chair has a later rope seat, some superficial losses to the finish and some areas of repainting on the legs. Both chairs are structurally sound. Reliable transport throughout the UK can be easily arranged at cost price. Please let me know if you would like a quote, or have any other questions.
