Description

An exceptional, fine and impressive antique Victorian English sterling silver wager cup; an addition to our diverse collection of novelty silverware. This exceptional and unusual antique Victorian sterling silver wager cup* has been realistically modelled in the form of a male character in an upright stance. The cast silver head of the model bears details replicating the facial features and beard. The wide skirt garment of the figure is embellished with chased decoration replicating the details of the fabric's foliate pattern and texture; due to the ornate garment it can be determined the piece was crafted in form of a noble figure. The cast silver upstretched arms of this impressive character conjoin with impressive opposing, intertwining scrolling leaf decorated branches. The branches are connected to a pivoting gimbal-type drinking cup, embellished with chased fluted decoration incorporating a foliate festoon. The underside of the skirts form a flared bell shaped drinking vessel and retains the original gilded interior. The hallmarks struck to the surface of this impressive antique wager cup include: Maker's mark: n (B. Neresheimer & Sohne) Hanau marks: Untraced...
