Description

An impressive and quite large PAIR of late 19th century Austrian ("Vienna") cold-painted BRONZE PARTRIDGES, in excellent original condition. Depicting both male and female birds standing proudly with their distinctive red head-stripes. Almost certainly by Franz Xaver Bergmann (indistinct trademark under tail of one bird) and stamped with the number "837". 13.5cms (over 5.25ins) high. Priced for the pair.  The "French" partridge is a pretty and distinctive game bird, that nests and feeds on the ground ~ never to be found perched in a pear tree!
