Description

Charming beautifully proportioned Edwardian writing desk crafted from solid mahogany in excellent antique condition. Designed with practicality in mind, the piece separates into three sections, allowing for easy movement throughout the home or office. The tooled leather top bears some light, historical wear but remains free from any rips or tears, adding to its authentic charm. The frieze features three drawers, complemented by a bank of three drawers to either pedestal—each lined in mahogany, running smoothly, and retaining original handles and locks. Two working keys are included. Raised on elegant bracket feet, this is a timeless and functional piece that lends classic sophistication to any interior.
