Early 19thC Chinese Gu Shaped Kangxi Style Blue and White Porcelain Beaker Vase Brief Description: This is a superb early 19th-century Chinese Blue and White Gu-shaped Porcelain Vase. Dating from the Qing Dynasty (1644-1911), and modelled in the manner of an earlier piece from the Kangxi period (1662-1722). The richly decorated vase is composed of three sections, rising from a flared, slightly tapering base to a more rounded mid-section and again to a wide-open mouth. The decoration varies within each section of the vase. On the lower section, the scene is of warriors with Samurai swords, whilst the mid-section displays cartouches decorated with urns and foliage. The neck is decorated with warriors on horseback and with swords. Attributes: Chinese Porcelain Qing Dynasty (1644-1912) Circa: 1820-1830 Condition: The piece is offered in an overall immaculate original condition commensurate with age. There are two minute cracks on the inside of the open mouth, and the base of the vase has a very faint star crack - see images.
