Description

A striking William IV period lamp table, circa 1835, featuring an elegant octagonal top beautifully inlaid with a compass rose design. Crafted in richly patinated mahogany and with a nautical flourish. The finely tapered central column rises from a carved tri-form base with shaped legs. The starburst marquetry in contrasting timbers adds visual interest and demonstrates superb craftsmanship. Ideal as a lamp table, wine table, or occasional table, this piece brings charm and character to traditional or eclectic settings. A rare and decorative 19th-century table combining functionality with artistic appeal. circa 1835
