Description

A charming and beautifully crafted Edwardian satinwood bijouterie display table, dating from around 1900 featuring exquisite hand-painted detail and classical elegance. This refined piece is crafted from fine satinwood and features a glazed octagonal lift-top display case, perfect for showcasing treasured items or jewellery. Each corner panel is adorned with finely hand-painted oval portraits of elegant ladies. The table stands on slender, tapered legs decorated with delicate neoclassical-style painted motifs united by a central round stretcher platform. The legs and apron are further enhanced with hand-painted floral garlands typical of the Edwardian taste for refinement and craftsmanship. height 76cm x Width 51cm x Depth 41cm
