Description

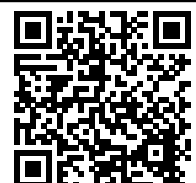

A truly exceptional 1920s triple strand pearl necklace, showcasing a rare and luxurious combination of cultured saltwater pearls and a magnificent natural pearl and diamond clasp. Individually hand-knotted and beautifully graduated, each of the 194 creamy pearls displays a soft lustre with delicate pink-green overtones. The show-stopping bow-shaped clasp is set with a stunning 11.2mm natural pearl, surrounded by 22 glistening natural diamonds in a refined millegrain setting, all mounted in 18ct gold. A discreet safety chain ensures secure wear. This necklace is accompanied by a gemmological report verifying the pearls as cultured saltwater and the diamonds as natural. It further confirms the large pearl in the clasp is natural – a highly desirable and rare feature. This breathtaking necklace is in superb condition. A refined and sophisticated heirloom-quality piece, it looks truly magnificent when worn.
