Description

Fabulous Sterling Silver & Enamelled Plaque Matchbox Holder by the late, great, Edward I. Farmer, New York. This is one of two rare and amazing finds we have recently come across by the highly regarded Edward I. Farmer of New York. Look out for the other in another listing. His pieces are highly collectable and rising in value. A Sterling Silver and Enamelled Plaque Matchbox Holder by Edward I. Farmer, New York. An elegant Art Deco matchbox holder by noted New York maker Edward I. Farmer. The front features a finely worked enamelled plaque set into a cleanly engraved sterling silver surround. Traces of a gilt wash remain, a detail often seen on Farmer's silver pieces. Condition: Excellent. No damage, no repairs—well preserved and ready to be appreciated or used. About Edward I. Farmer: Edward I. Farmer was a visionary American art dealer and designer, celebrated for transforming Asian antiquities into luxurious, one-of-a-kind creations. Working from his New York studio—at one time inside the famed Carlyle Hotel—he reinvented carved stones and historic objects as elegant desk pieces and decorative art. His refined style is often compared to Cartier, and while he favoure...
