Description

A superb quality late Georgian mahogany secretaire bookcase, crafted circa 1800, showcasing the refined elegance and craftsmanship of the period. This impressive piece combines practical storage and classic design, making it a striking focal point in any interior. The upper section features doors with original astragal glazing in a desirable diamond lattice pattern. The interior provides generous storage for books, china, or display items, with three adjustable shelves. The cornice with a decorated crisply carved dentil moulding and a stepped pediment for added architectural presence. The Lower Section has a deep central drawer that pulls out and folds down to reveal a fully fitted writing interior, complete with a bank of drawers. Beneath having two lower cupboard doors, open to reveal a shelved interior. This piece is in excellent antique condition, with rich colour and patination developed over centuries. The drawers run smoothly, locks function, and the glass is original. Height 230cm x Width 114cm x Depth 56cm
