Description

A superb set of eight 19th-century oak dining chairs, upholstered in quality tan leather with a warm, aged patina. Featuring elegant Gothic-style arched backs and traditional brass studded edging. The sturdy oak frames are beautifully made, with straight square legs and H-stretchers for excellent stability and strength. The legs have a rich, mellow patina that perfectly complements the deep honey tones of the leather. Comfortable, stylish, and robust, these chairs are ideal for a formal dining room, country house interior, or period property.
