Description

Clockwise is delighted to welcome into its collection a lovely restored eight day fusee railway clock. The rectangular plate anchor escapement movement, with shaped shoulders, has just benefitted from a full overhaul so the clock enjoys a three year guarantee. The superbly restored 12 inch dial bears the same details as the identifying oval brass plaque to the side of the clock. Whilst the clock dates from the 1900s the original dial has been repainted by the Doncaster clock works when the railways underwent significant operational changes. With a rare ebonised finish this truly is a striking piece of furniture. The case benefits from stabilising hooks, a lower and side door (both locking) and the dial section is paired to the back box in a standard design. Original spade hands behind a spun brass bezel complete the impressive appearance. This is a lovely find so enjoy this clock whilst you can. I have more railway clocks arriving very shortly. Clockwise specialises in longcase and bracket clocks and with global clients from the world of business, film, sport, royalty and aristocracy - yet more than happy with traditional clients - Clockwise has an unrivalled reputatio...
