Description

Early 19thC Crinoline Stretcher Elm and Yew Windsor Chair, C1810, Fruitwood Legs. A fine example of a traditional Windsor chair circa 1800-1810, a vernacular country chair with crinoline strtecher beneath a handsome grain elm seat and yew wood spindle back and open arms, raised on fruitwood turned supports. A well constructed, structurally excellent country chair with a great timeworn patination and colour, no obvious signs of repair, defects or worm, a very fine thing. A wonderful country vernacular chair of both function and form, an interior design chair that can enhance a classic or contemporary space, an enduring design classic.
