Description

An Arts and Crafts oak hall cupboard dating to circa 1900. The design features a mirrored door flanked by hammered copper panels with stylised heart-shaped motifs, typical of the movement's hand-crafted aesthetic. The cupboard has a flat overhanging cornice and stands on block feet with a shaped apron. Inside is a plain storage space fitted with hooks for hanging coats or accessories. The piece reflects the Arts and Crafts focus on honest materials, craftsmanship, and simple yet distinctive decoration.
