Item Reference: SA1157859Date of manufacture: 18th Century

Description

A highly unusual and early Japanese bronze ritual or offering bowl with separate applied cartouches, each secured by original hand-forged rivets. The bowl features alternating mask-like faces of samurai warriors in horned helmets and stylized sacred trees, all with fine hand-engraved detailing. The upper rim is a separately applied band with a classic key-fret pattern. Construction is distinctly archaic; this is not Meiji revival but a genuine Edo-period piece, likely temple or ceremonial ware. Dimensions: Height 7 cm, diameter 16.2 cm, weight 324 g. Original patina, untouched rivets, significant age wear, minor cracks and dents. No restorations, no modern alterations. Note: The wooden stand is for photographic purposes only and is not included. Please study the accompanying photographs carefully as they form an integral part of this description. If you have any questions, we will be happy to answer them. The item will be shipped with full tracking and insurance. It is important to note that shipping costs include labour, packaging and postage.
