Description

An exceptional and unusually complete Southern Song Dynasty (c.12th century) stoneware ewer, China, with its original undamaged lid – a truly rare survivor. Features dramatic horse-head handles, S-shaped spout, dragon relief to body, all original. Height: 22 cm; Diameter: 19.7 cm; Weight: 1822 g. Excellent condition for its age – only a single kiln crack at neck (manufacturing flaw), no restoration, minimal natural wear, lid perfectly preserved. Such complete lidded Song ewers almost never appear outside major museum collections or specialist publications. Please study the accompanying photographs carefully as they form an integral part of this description. If you have any questions, we will be happy to answer them. The item will be shipped with full tracking and insurance. Price is attractive for dealers or resellers with access to the high-demand Chinese market.
