Description

A Charming Painted Pembroke Table. A Re-invisioned Antique Pembroke which blends eras. A truly captivating piece from the collection is a superb Victorian (C1880) Pembroke table, beautifully re-envisioned for the contemporary home. It retains the classic charm and versatile functionality of its 19th-century origins, but has undergone a masterful restoration that elevates it into a striking transitional piece. The tabletop is crafted from mahogany and has been expertly bleached to a soft, inviting hue. This process reveals the elegant grain of the rich mahogany in a subtly subdued manner, creating a luminous, airy surface that contrasts with its traditional, darker counterparts. This lightened top imparts a fresh, modern sensibility, inviting light into any space. This seemingly compact surface is extendable via two drop-down leaves each with 2 finger jointed supports which pull out to hold the leaf, effortlessly transforming the table to comfortably seat up to four people, making it a perfect fit as a versatile kitchen, breakfast, or informal dining table. Beneath this surface, you'll find the robust yet elegantly turned legs, which have been given a dramatic and sop...
