Description

Rare Wedgwood Fairyland Lustre octagonal bowl, designed by Daisy Makeig-Jones c.1915. The interior features the celebrated "celestial dragon" motif surrounded by an intricate oriental-style border, while the exterior is finished in a deep blue lustre with stylized gold medallions and floral patterns in the oriental taste. Fairyland Lustreware production was organized into eight distinct color schemes, four reflecting natural light conditions: day, night, sunset, and moonlight. Occasionally, Makeig-Jones combined two schemes within a single piece to achieve particularly striking visual effects. The combination of this rare form, distinctive coloring, and refined decoration ensures strong appeal to advanced Wedgwood collectors. Works by Daisy Makeig-Jones have shown steady growth in value over the years, making this bowl not only a decorative treasure but also a sound long-term investment. Height: 5 cm Diameter: 9.2 cm Condition: Excellent. Ref...
