

SA1159550

A Rare Victorian Glass Decanter Made In London By Hukin & Heath Dated 1887

Price

GBP 995

| USD $1,357 | EUR 1,161

Item Reference: SA1159550

Date of manufacture: Victorian

Dimensions

Height = 22.5 cm (8.9")

Description

A Rare Victorian Glass Decanter Made In London By Hukin & Heath 1887 Hukin & Heath (John Thomas Heath & John Hartshorne Middleton) Subsequently Hukin & Heath Ltd 1886 - 1909 (registered Jun 1886) The Decanter has a Two Registration Numbers "RD NOS 48328-9" This decanter is a prime example of the Aesthetic Movement, which flourished in the late 19th century. The Aesthetic Movement emphasized "art for art's sake" and focused on beauty and craftsmanship. The decanter's design exhibits several key characteristics of this style: Integration of Form and Function: The spiral fluting is not merely decorative; it creates a satisfying tactile experience and a visually appealing flow from the body to the neck. ?Influence of Nature: The swirling pattern, particularly on the silver lid, resembles a conch shell or a nautilus, a common motif in Aesthetic designs influenced by natural forms. Emphasis on Materials: The contrast between the brilliant, polished silver and the clear, textured glass highlights the beauty of both materials. While the specific design is not attributed to Sir Christopher Dresser, it is very much in the spirit of the work Hukin & Heath produced under hi...

Seller Details

Sandbanks Antiques

Sandbanks Poole Dorset United Kingdom By appointment only in Poole or London.

Tel: 07889 139677

International Tel: +44 7889 139677

