Description

An opulent 1920s bracelet of luminous pearls and a 4ct old mine cut diamond floral clasp – a jewel of timeless elegance. This exquisite 1920s pearl and diamond bracelet is a jewel of timeless elegance. The bracelet is composed of four perfectly matched strands of luminous cultured saltwater pearls, individually hand-knotted to showcase their creamy ivory tone and fine lustre. Smooth, blemish-free, and beautifully even in colour, these pearls radiate sophistication. At the heart of this bracelet lies its magnificent clasp: a circular foliate scroll open-work design, set with approximately four carats of natural old mine cut diamonds. With forty stones ranging from 3.8mm to 1.5mm, the clasp sparkles with a brilliance that only antique diamonds can deliver. The diamonds are assessed as colour H, clarity SI, and are set in 15ct gold with a secure box push clasp and safety catch. This bracelet comes with an AnchorCert gem certificate, confirming that the pearls are cultured saltwater and the diamonds are natural. A bracelet of this calibre makes a truly special gift – a rare jewel to be treasured for generations. Bracelet length: 18cm (7") Four strands of 27 pearls each...
