Description

This is a fabulous late 19th century cased Crocodile circa 1880-1900. The full-mount juvenile crocodile with mouth agape and the body of a snake protruding from its mouth. There is a single Green parrot to either side of the head with the specimen set amidst natural and simulated colourful grasses, flora and fauna, enclosed within a later large bespoke five-glass table display case, with green-painted supporting base. This is in superb display condition, absolutely stunning and beautifully presented in a true to life action pose in a bespoke case manufactured by Alan Cross Ltd Nottingham. The cabinet measures 120cm long by 45cm deep by 32cm high. UK delivery can be arranged with our trusted furniture courier and costs £70 plus vat to most destinations.
