E.R. Watts & Son Theodolite in Original Case – Dated 1925 A good early 20th century theodolite by E.R. Watts & Son, London, serial number 10153 and dated March 1925. The instrument is finished in black enamel with lacquered brass fittings and is housed in its original fitted mahogany case with dovetailed joints, brass latches, and interior compartments. Labels to the interior include the maker's mark and a printed notice dated March 1925. The original spirit level bottle is still present. The theodolite shows surface wear and paint loss consistent with use, but remains complete and unrestored. The case retains a warm patina and shows marks and wear commensurate with age, including a torn leather strap. A well-made and authentic example from a respected London maker. Dimensions: Case: 36 cm wide x 16 cm deep x 18 cm high Condition: Good original condition with age-related wear. Sold as a collector's item.
