Description

A fine and rare Wedgwood Lustre bowl, with slightly worn pattern Z4831, designed by Daisy Makeig-Jones circa 1915. The green lustre exterior is reinforced by multicolored stainings, creating a shimmering violet hue, and is adorned with gilt oriental-style animals. The interior features a coiling dragon with a human face at the center, surrounded by stylized blue clouds.

Daisy Makeig-Jones brought new life to Wedgwood at a time of financial uncertainty, yet her vision went far beyond decorative appeal. She imagined porcelain as a stage for fantastical stories, brought to life with opulent colors and refined detail. Measuring 5.3 cm high and 10 cm wide, this bowl is as much an artistic creation as it is a rare collector's acquisition, with increasing scarcity and market demand. Condition: Excellent antique condition. Please study the accompanying photographs carefully as they form an integral part of this description. If you have any questions, we will be happy to answer them. The item will be shipped with full tracking and insurance.
