Description

Shop display fabric panel, showing samples of the three fabrics on the front and one on the back, finished at the top so a pole can be pushed through, ready to hang. I purchased this from a reputable textile dealer who believed it to be Mrs Monroe. The colours are wonderful with a very light chintzes. A lovely wall hanging. It could also be used over a bed or chair. (sorry I did not get a chance to iron it before the photoshoot !)

Details that came with the panel – A wonderful botanical print taken from a book of Victorian flower paintings. Pigment printed white on white and overprinted with minutely detailed vibrant pink blossom and buds. Than hand – painted look of this fabric has made its appeal timeless. Established in 1981 by Jean Monroe, daughter of the famous decorator of the 1920s Mrs Geraldine Monroe, Jean decided to reproduce and market the favourite designs used by her mother over the years and Turnell & Gigon took up the reins in 1998. Jean Monroe Ltd is renowned for its English chintzes, producing traditional English prints from archive material, printed on the finest cloths and without compromise. Wherever possible, the Jean Monroe fabrics are printed in Englan...
