Description

A large and pretty blue and white Dutch delftware charger dating from c1780, with a central floral design surrounded by four complimentary patterns, a geometric border, with a yellow band to the rim. The plate has an old stapled repair to a crack. A very attractive plate with nicely painted decoration. It has a hole drilled through the back to carry a hanging wire, but this unfortunately appears to have caused the crack as it runs right through the centre of this. The crack has been repaired with metal staples - I have a bit of a soft spot for ceramics with old stapled repairs so for me this adds to its charm, but I'm sure not everyone will see it the same way, and this is reflected in the price. Condition: Other than the crack mentioned above the charger is in good condition, with some wear and chipping to the glaze around the rim, as is common with delftware. Free UK delivery - the item will be sent using a tracked and signed for service. If you would like a quote for delivery elsewhere please get in touch.
