Description

Type of artwork: An Original Anitque Watercolour Painting Surface: Paper Artist and signature: No Visible Signature Approximate age of artwork: Circa Late 19th Century Subject: A finely rendered watercolour painting of a quiet English town street, featuring a rider on horseback and a traditional public house with a hanging "Bell" sign. The piece captures the warmth of provincial architecture with lovely period detailing such as sash windows, hanging lanterns, and cobbled shadows. Likely painted around 1890–1920, this work evokes the charm of Edwardian or late Victorian town life. The artist is unknown but demonstrates confident draughtsmanship and strong compositional control. The work may depict a real location, possibly southern England or the west country, though exact identification is unclear. Is the artwork Framed or Mounted: Mounted as shown. Condition report: The artwork is considered to be in good to fair condition. Some age related discolouration.
