Description

Case. The case is incredibly original in its dark green and raised chinoiserie. The imposing hood retains its original caddy top. Below this is a full and intact blind fret above a break-arch base moulding over the hood door. The door has attached tapered pillars with brass capitals and also a lock. The sides of the hood have large glazed apertures. The trunk throat has a large Cavetto moulding and a full-length break-arch locking door with a well-executed raised edge moulding. It is profusely decorated in the Oriental style. The trunk edges are also nicely decorated and the sides have the usual floral design. The base has a panelled area to the front of floral application.
