Description

Pair of Large Antique Bohemian Cranberry Glass Vases with Gilded Accents, c.1910 An impressive matched pair of early 20th-century Bohemian cranberry glass vases, richly decorated with bold gilt enamel in a floral Art Nouveau style. Crafted from thick, high-quality glass, each vase displays an elegant baluster form with striking decorative presence. Standing at 36cm in height the pair makes a commanding statement. Despite being over 110 years old, both vases remain structurally sound and visually captivating. There is light wear to the gilt, minor age-related flea-bites, and one small chip to the edge of one vase, though none of these diminish their overall impact. With their glowing cranberry tone and ornate detailing, this rare pair would serve beautifully as centerpieces or prized additions to any serious collection.
