Description

A magnificent late 19th century carved giltwood console table with richly detailed Rococo-style decoration and marble top. The table features an intricately hand-carved giltwood base with scrolling acanthus, garlands, and finely executed cherub supports with outstretched wings. The shaped stretcher is adorned with a central cluster of carved gilt fruit, while the cabriole legs terminate in bold claw-and-ball feet. Above, the rectangular marble top in tones of reddish-brown with natural veining provides a striking contrast to the glowing gilded frame. Date: Circa 1900 Materials: Giltwood, marble top Style: Rococo Revival / Baroque Revival Details: Cherub carvings, fruit garland, acanthus scrolls, claw feet Condition: Excellent antique condition, with some gentle wear to the gilding consistent with age Dimensions: height 96cm x width 113cm x depth 46cm
