Description

Victorian walnut writing box dating from c 1880 40 cm wide and with two bands of inlay of different colour woods across the top and front. There is an inlaid cartouch on the top with a matching escutcheon. The condition is excellent, and all we have had to do is give it a good clean and polish. Inside there is a burgundy felt writing surface in excellent condition, surrounded by a patterned silk braid. There is a dished pen holder which is removable, and a section for stamps or other small things. Unfortunately the original inkwells were missing, as is often the case, and we have replaced them with two new ones with brass tops - these are top quality. Both halves of the writing surface open on hinges to reveal useful storage space. All round, this is a good size writing box and in ready-to-use condition. Free UK postage
