Description

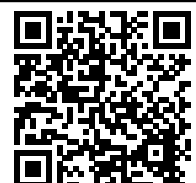

Mahogany Sutherland Table. This Table Stands Upon Shaped Legs With Fret Work Panels to Either End. The Top of The Table Being of an Oval Form. Presented in Good Condition. An antique Sutherland table is a type of drop-leaf table that was popular in the Victorian era, named after Harriet Sutherland-Leveson-Gower, the Duchess of Sutherland, a prominent figure in 19th-century Britain. Key Features of a Sutherland Table: Drop-leaf design: It has two hinged leaves that can be raised or lowered, allowing the table to be compact when not in use and expanded when needed. Very narrow when folded: One of its most distinctive features is how slim it becomes when both leaves are down — often just a few inches wide. Size: Height 27" (69cm) Width 26" (66cm) Depth 7" (18cm) Depth fully extended 33" (84cm)
