Description

A beautiful antique Victorian mahogany whatnot dating from around 1900, offered in excellent condition. This elegant piece features three open tiers for display, with a practical drawer beneath the upper shelf. The top is surmounted by a decorative gallery with turned finials and a shaped back fitted with an inset mirror. The mahogany wood displays a rich colour and attractive grain, enhanced by the finely turned supports and detailed craftsmanship. Compact yet striking, this versatile whatnot is perfect for use as a display stand, occasional piece, or decorative accent in a living room, hallway, or study. A fine example of late Victorian to Edwardian design, full of charm and functionality.
