Description

A charming country oak side table dating from the 18th century. It has a planked overhanging top and stands on bobbin turned legs joined by square stretchers. It has a single drawer with a small wooden knob. It is a particularly small size and has probably lost some height over the years but it makes a useful side table or coffee table. It is in good original condition with a lovely rich patina. There are a few old stains and marks, some old shrinkage splits and some wear to the finish in places but no major damages and it is strong and sturdy. It has been cleaned and given a light polish and is ready for use. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
