Description

Victorian teak brass bound military chest This Victorian teak brass bound officer's military chest is a superb example of 19th-century campaign furniture, designed for portability and durability during service. Constructed in two parts for ease of transport, the chest features recessed brass handles and brass corner mounts, typical of military design. The warm teak has developed a fine patina over time, telling the story of its history. Notably, this chest shows signs of old repairs from damage sustained while in transit during an officer's service on the North-West Frontier of India and other distant postings. These historic repairs only add to its authenticity and charm, reflecting the life of a well-travelled piece of campaign furniture. A true collector's item, it embodies both practical design and military heritage. "There is scarcely anything in the world that some man cannot make a little worse and sell a little more cheaply. The person who buys on price alone is this man's lawful prey."
