Description

A fun and quirky pearlware Staffordshire pottery spill vase by John Walton, c.1820. Formed as a castle turret set on a large grassy mound atop a red brick bridge. A babbling stream runs underneath with a little rowing boat moored up. Decorated in the round with shredded clay vegetation. The "Walton" banner mark is to the reverse. It measures 14cm (5 1/2") high, 11.5cm (4 1/2") wide and 9cm (3 1/2") deep. Condition is excellent with no damage, repair or restoration bar a small scrape to the glaze at the start of the "Walton" banner and a few minor losses to the shredded clay. The enamels are lovely and bright with minimal handling wear.
