Description

A striking Chesterfield sofa, upholstered in hand-dyed green leather with a beautifully aged patina. This fine example of traditional English craftsmanship features the classic deep button-tufted back and seat, elegantly scrolled arms, and a fully buttoned front border — hallmarks of the timeless Chesterfield design. The leather has developed a rich depth of colour, with natural variations and wear that only come with age, enhancing its authentic character. Finished with brass stud detailing and raised on turned mahogany legs with brass castors, the sofa embodies both elegance and practicality. A rare and distinguished piece, this Chesterfield sofa is not only a comfortable seating option but also a statement of antique sophistication, ideal for period interiors, libraries, or drawing rooms.
