Price

SoldItem Reference: SA116821*Date of manufacture: 1900

Description

Very decorative Japanese Ivory carving of a man sitting holding a conch shell. The piece is signed to the underside and dated from the Meiji period. It appears as though the okimono has been used as a pendant and the hole has been filled to the front and is visible to the back. This does not detract from a lovely decorative piece of Japanese history.
