Description

Alfred Wheeler British, (1852-1932) Diamond Jubilee with Jockey Up Oil on canvas, signed, inscribed & dated 1900 Image size: 19.25 inches x 23.5 inches Size including frame: 30 inches x 34 inches Provenance: T Richardson & Co, Piccadilly, London A wonderful sporting horse portrait by Alfred Wheeler of the racehorse Diamond Jubilee with Jockey Up. A bay stallion is depicted standing side on in a landscape, most likely Newmarket Heath, with another racehorse and jockey in the distance. The horse's head is slightly turned towards the viewer to reveal a white diamond shape mark on his forehead running into a line down his face. On his lower forelegs can be seen leg wraps which were used during training and exercise. Research has identified the jockey as being Herbert Jones, who is depicted wearing Edward, the Prince of Wales's colours. Diamond Jubilee was a thoroughbred stallion by St Simon out of Perdita, foaled in 1897 at Sandringham. He was bred and owned by the Prince of Wales (later King Edward VII) and achieved considerable success for the Prince during his racing career which began in 1899 and lasted until October 1901. In 1900, he won five major races including the T...
