Description

A stunning, fine and impressive antique 1930s 8.12 carat diamond and 18 carat white gold, platinum set floral spray brooch; part of our diverse collection of diamond brooches. This stunning, fine and impressive antique diamond brooch has been crafted in 18ct white gold with platinum settings. The multi-stemmed diamond spray brooch is embellished with thirteen individually claw set Old European round cut diamonds, creating simplified floral/bud designs. The elongated curvilinear stems conjoin to the lower portion with two intertwining leaf designs. The leaves incorporate eighteen pavé set Old European cut diamonds, completing the design. This diamond floral brooch secures to the reverse with a hinged pin fastening. This diamond spray brooch is hallmarked to the reverse with the platinum mark (PT) and the 18ct gold mark (18CT). This impressive brooch is supplied with three IDGL diamond grading report certificates for the feature stones, in addition to an IDGL diamond grading report card for the supporting stones. Such period brooches bearing larger diamonds are highly desirable; this feature indicates the high quality of the piece. This antique floral brooch in 18k...
