Description

Fabulous Antique Victorian Solid Silver Fish Serving Set featuring finely pierced and engraved blades paired with richly textured stag antler handles. The handles are finished with decorative silver caps and collars, enhancing both durability and visual appeal. Hallmarked for Sheffield, 1887 (The year of Queen Victoria's Golden Jubilee), it perfectly captures the period's blend of refinement and rustic charm, making it a highly desirable addition to any collection of fine tableware. *This set reflects the grandeur of 19th-century dining traditions, where even the serving utensils were works of art. Perfect for collectors of antique silver or enthusiasts of country house style. Measurements: Length of Server: 13 3/4" (approx. 35cm) Length of Fork: 12" (approx. 30.5cm) Total weight: 515g In good condition – Light surface wear and patina consistent with age and use. Handles are secure, and the set remains practical for use as well as decorative display.
