Description

An elegant Regency side or work table in mahogany, the rectangular top with rounded corners and reeded edge over two drawers with the original turned mahogany handles, ebony stringing and brass key escutcheons and with dummy drawer fronts on the other side, and raised on slender turned and reeded supports terminating with brass castors. English, circa 1810. Condition: Overall very good, the table is in excellent condition with no damage, restorations or significant marks, it stands well with no undue wobbling, the drawers run smoothly and the handles are the originals. There are some historical marks to the top which are entirely consistent with its age, aside from this the table had a charming appearance with excellent colour and lovely patina redolent of English Georgian furniture.
