Description

This beautiful antique mahogany tilt-top dining table, featuring a rich, polished finish and a classic circular design. The deep grain of the mahogany gives the piece both warmth and elegance, making it a versatile addition to a traditional dining room, period interior, or stylish kitchen space. Its timeless craftsmanship ensures it will remain a statement piece for years to come. The table is mounted on a sturdy pedestal base with carved legs, offering both stability and refined character. The underside reveals the traditional brass catch and mechanism, allowing the tabletop to tilt vertically when not in use. This feature makes it especially practical for rooms where space-saving is important, combining both functionality and antique charm. Perfect for dining, entertaining, or as a decorative centrepiece, this Victorian mahogany tilt-top table showcases exceptional build quality and period character. Whether used as a family dining table or a feature in a reception room, it embodies the elegance of classic English furniture. Its authentic patina and craftsmanship make it not only a functional table but also a collector's piece that enhances any interior. Height: 29 i...
