Description

An original factory machinists' chair made by Singer in the early 20th Century. The wooden seat sits on a cast iron base with 4 splayed legs, each stamped 'SINGER'. It has an adjustable wing nut screw that tightens or loosens to allow the chair to be adjusted in height. It also has a small wooden back rest on curved sprung supports stamped "Simanco 94500". It is in very good condition for its age and displays well. The adjustable revolving mechanism runs smoothly and the chair is generally strong and stable. There are general signs of age and use and some light surface marks but nothing detrimental and no major damages. It has been lightly cleaned and polished and is certainly a very usable piece. Approximate Measurements : Height (adjustable) : 31" (79cm) Diameter of seat : 14" (36cm) Base Width : 15" (38cm) Seat Height : 18" (46cm) to 24" (61cm) The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
