Description This is a decorative antique English galvanised metal log basket, with an oval shape, providing plenty of storage space for wood or other items, circa 1920, in excellent condition. This galvanised tub would have probably started life on a dairy farm to store milk. It would have sat on a pivoting steel stand, with the purpose to decant milk into smaller containers. Featuring an oval shape, with a single handle on the back of the galvanised bin and a pouring spout on the front, with two horizontal side pins. The metal log basket panels have been welded and riveted together, to ensure the galvanized container is water-tight. The metal tub features a ribbed waist below the...
