Description

This is a good late 19th century oil painting on canvas mounted onto a board depicting a lady on horseback with a falcon on her arm along with other riders and servants in attendance. The painting is in excellent condition and is very well executed and is a rare glimpse into sporting and hunting pastimes of old. This is framed in a very good quality period Gilt frame which is also in excellent original condition and really compliments the work. The frame measuring 64 cms by 52 cms and is a good depth at 10 cms deep. UK insured packing and delivery is £20
