Description

A beautiful late Victorian occasional table crafted from rich walnut, dating from around 1890. This elegant piece features a finely shaped top with reeded edge detail, turned legs, and a lower tier joined by delicately curved supports ending in small castors for ease of movement. The warm walnut tone and intricate craftsmanship make it a perfect example of late 19th-century English furniture design. Ideal as a side, lamp, or occasional table — a timeless addition to both period and modern interiors. Very good antique condition with light age-related wear. Solid, stable, and full of Victorian charm.
